Aided by relative and her co-workers, family displaced by Katrina makes fresh start in Massachusetts

BRAINTREE, MA — Hurricane Katrina hit home for Hingham resident, Allison Finn, and her co-workers at Fisher Experience. Finn’s relatives—Covington, Louisiana natives—were forced to evacuate after Katrina devastated their home. And now, this family of six is making a fresh start in Massachusetts, living with Finn until they get their feet back on the ground.

But, they are not going it alone. Finn’s co-workers at Fisher Experience have rallied to lend Finn and her family a helping hand.

“When we heard that Allison’s family had lost everything in Hurricane Katrina, we wanted to help in any way we could,” said Fisher Experience co-owner, Beth Fisher.

So, Finn’s co-workers at Fisher started a collection, donating their tips to a fund to help the family settle into their new life. Moved by the family’s story, many Fisher clients are also giving to the fund.

“The outpouring of support from both our employees and our clients has been overwhelming,” says Fisher. “People are so happy to make a difference in the life of this family—even if they feel powerless to help in the general relief effort. It’s personal.”

Now, Fisher is reaching out to the community to help as well. Any donation is appreciated, and 100 percent of the funds collected will be given to the Finn family. For more information, please call 781-849-1770 or visit Fisher Experience at 924 Washington Street in Braintree.
